“Child Sexual Abuse Prevention Training”

2 CEUs

Kim Lakin Creger is a survivor, and a thriver, of child sexual abuse. She is Mom to three grown children, and a grandma to six beautiful grandchildren. Her biggest motivation for the work she does.

Kim’s testimony was printed in the 5th edition of Stories of Roaring Faith. And she is a finalist in Hope Pyx Global’s International Book Awards.

Because of her own experiences, God has given Kim has a strong desire to be an advocate for children, including working in children’s ministry, and volunteering in the public schools, for over 25 years.

Kim is a Certified Instructor and Authorized Facilitator for child sex abuse prevention through Darkness to Light, Stewards of Children. Kim is also an Authorized Facilitator for the Monique Burr Foundation for Children. She is on several boards, bringing her knowledge of child protection to communities, schools, and churches in Colorado and virtually.

About “Child Sexual Abuse Prevention Training”

Stewards of Children® is an award-winning two-hour online or in person training. This evidence-informed, adult-focused child sexual abuse prevention training is proven to increase knowledge and change behavior. Numerous studies have shown that this prevention education works and evidence-informed training can change child protective behaviors. Studies include:

- A Center for Disease Control funded study conducted by the National Crime Victims Research Center that found that this training changes and strengthens adult child-protective behaviors.
- Data compiled in South Carolina by noted researcher Dr. Elizabeth Letourneau of Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health, suggesting citizens trained in the Stewards of Children® program report previously unrecognized abuse at a higher rate than in other communities.
- A study conducted in Texas that found educators trained using the Stewards of Children® program increased their reporting of previously unrecognized abuse by 82% in the year following training.
